IN MEMORIAM PETER KINGSTON

From the Editor

PETER KINGSTON, retired Professor in the Department of Classics, McMaster University, passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital, Hamilton (Ontario), on August 18, 2013. Husband of Isa for 53 years, father to Tracey, Helen, Heather and Andrew, he also leaves nine grandchildren.

A former Chair of the Department of Classics, he also served on numerous occasions as Acting Chair. His publications were few, but include collaborative work on the Oxyrhynchus Papyri in the mid to late 1960s. In 2001 he was awarded the McMaster Students Union Teaching Award in the Humanities. He retired in 2003 after teaching Greek and other subjects at McMaster for 43 years. Beside gardening, probably one of the things he most enjoyed in life was to chat with his students while sipping a glass of red wine at departmental events.

[3] Positions Available / Postes à combler

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO DEPARTMENT OF CLASSICS ASSISTANT PROFESSOR IN ROMAN HISTORY (TENURE-STREAM)

From Christer Bruun

The Department of Classics invites applications for a tenure-stream appointment in the field of Roman History. This position will be at the rank of Assistant Professor and will commence July 1, 2014. A doctoral degree in Classics or a closely related discipline must have been earned by that date or shortly thereafter.

The successful applicant will have demonstrated potential for excellence in research and teaching, and will be expected to contribute to a research-intensive doctoral program and to a thriving undergraduate program in Latin, Greek, and Classical Civilization; an ability to teach in our program in Classical languages at all levels is required. The Department welcomes a wide range of methods and innovative approaches to the study of history and is particularly interested in candidates who combine a thorough training in Classics with an interest in other disciplines in the humanities or social sciences. The Department of Classics collaborates with the graduate Department of History at York University through the Collaborative Program in Ancient History, and cooperates closely with the Archaeology Centre, the Centre for Medieval Studies, the Women and Gender Studies Institute, and the Departments of Art, History, Near and Middle Eastern Civilizations, Political Science, and Religion, among others, at the University of Toronto.

Salary will commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply by clicking the link below. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, evidence of excellence in teaching (including a statement of teaching philosophy), a short description of the applicant's current research plans, and a sample of academic writing. All application materials should be submitted online.

The UofT application system can accommodate up to five attachments (10 MB) per candidate profile; please combine attachments into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>.

Applicants should also ask three referees to send letters directly to Professor Christer Bruun, Chair, Department of Classics, University of Toronto, at chair.classics@utoronto.ca by the closing date, October 15, 2013. Inquiries about the application may be sent to chair.classics@utoronto.ca.

Additional information about the Department of Classics can be obtained from our website at <http://classics.chass.utoronto.ca/>.

UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN ONTARIO DEPARTMENT OF CLASSICS ASSISTANT PROFESSOR (TENURE-TRACK)

From Christopher Brown

Applications are invited for a probationary (tenure-track) position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin July 1, 2014. Preference will be given to candidates with a demonstrated research interest in Latin literature. The successful applicant will participate in a department offering a full range of courses and programs in classical civilization and languages at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. Competitive applicants will demonstrate a strong commitment to research, teaching, and service, as well as a solid background in Greek and Latin philology. Applicants should have the Ph.D. or be in the final stages of its completion. All applications should be postmarked no later than the closing date, November 1, 2013. A curriculum vitae, letters from three referees (or a dossier from a university placement office), university transcripts, evidence of achievement in teaching, and a sample of scholarly writing should be sent to Professor Christopher Brown, Chair, Department of Classical Studies, The University of Western Ontario, Lawson Hall 3205B, London, Ontario, N6A 5B8. Please ensure that the application form available here is completed and included in your application submission.

The position is subject to budgetary approval. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and Permanent Residents will be given priority. Applicants should have fluent written and oral communication skills in English. The University of Western Ontario is committed to employment equity and welcomes applications from all qualified women and men, including visible minorities, aboriginal people, and persons with disabilities.
