

Hosted by: the Department of Classics & Religion

CALL FOR PAPERS

RESEARCH THAT SHAPES THE WORLD: YESTERDAY, TODAY, AND TOMORROW

Annual CLARE Symposium Graduate Student Conference

April 6-7, 2017
University of Calgary

This is a free interdisciplinary event where Graduate Students can share their research and ideas.

Abstract Submission Deadline: February 24th, 2017

Please submit abstracts to: lkjurgen@ucalgary.ca

The Department of Classics & Religion at the University of Calgary invite abstracts for our upcoming annual symposium held on April 6th and 7th, 2017. In particular, we are interested in proposals related to our theme: Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow. We are looking for papers that discuss important research, ideas, themes, events, figures etc. from any time period ranging from the past, present, and future. We are encouraging submissions on a variety of topics. With such a broad theme, we hope to receive abstracts from a range of academic disciplines. Abstracts should be no more than 250 words for a 20min presentation with a 10min question period.

